

Spokesman

AIR INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

Vol. 37, No. 10

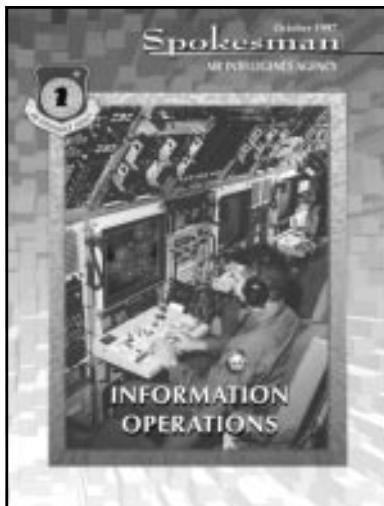

October 1997

Brig. Gen. James E. Miller Jr.
AIA Commander

Capt. Amber Cargile
Director of Public Affairs

Tech. Sgt. Mary Sellinger
Editor

Staff Sgt. Kimberley Young
Airman 1st Class Jennifer Gregoire
Assistant Editors

In this issue of the magazine we focus on information operations. The "in focus: information operations" section begins on page 4 with the article "Information Operations — Taking AIA into the future." We not only take a look at AIA advancements and where we're headed, but what our units are doing in the IO arena.

On Oct. 20, 1948, U.S. Air Force Security Service was established. With this issue we are beginning to countdown to AIA's 50th anniversary by printing articles from the history office which will provide you a glimpse of some memorable events. The "AIA 50th anniversary countdown" begins on page 25 with the article "CORONA Project — The start of something new."

Front and back cover illustrations by Tim Johnson Jr., visual information specialist.

Page 4
in focus: IO

Page 11
around the command

Page 18
unit news

in focus: information operations 4

- Information Operations — Taking AIA into the future*
- Imagery Intelligence — NAIC's eyes on the world provides "big picture"*
- Counting all factors of Information Operations*
- AIA visibility gained in exercises*
- 315th improves force protection*

around the command 11

- Change of Command — AIA/JC2WC under new leadership*
- Opportunities for linguists at DLI*
- Wing members have new home*
- Commander presents 500 stuffed animals to SAPD*
- "Sun Lab" room opens to students*
- Schools connected to Internet*
- "Labor for Lumber" in the desert*
- Working enlisted assignments*

unit news 18

- Harvey takes 67th IW reins*
- Plus other unit articles*

family news 20

- Home education scores high marks for alternative learning*
- Hospitalized kids 'hide out' on Web site*
- Bubble gum and spit*
- New dental plan to cover military retirees*

AIA 50th anniversary countdown 23

- CORONA Project — The start of something new* salutes 25

- Merritt receives Air Force's top civilian award*
- Four inducted into AIA "Hall of Honor"*