303rd dedicates conference room to retired Skivvy Nine chief

*by Staff Sgt. Bill Seaman 303rd IS
Osan Air Base, Korea*

No one knows the rich history of Skivvy Nine like retired chief master sergeant Terry Tillman who was honored recently when the 303rd Intelligence Squadron renamed the commander's conference room during ceremonies.

"Chief Tillman is one of the few Skivvy Niners who was at Goodfellow Air Force Base when it was still a flying unit," said Col. Edward Boyle, 607th Air Intelligence Group commander, who officiated the ceremony.

Tillman served on 13 remote tours as a Skivvy Niner. "I was here during the Pueblo. I was here for the tree cutting," said Tillman of the 1968 U.S. Naval vessel seizure and the 1976 Panmunjom ax murders. "My heart has always been here."

After his retirement in 1987, Tillman remained at Osan Air Base to work at the 7th Air Force Headquarters as a civilian and has been there for the past 17 years.

"We will shine a light [on the plaque] and it will be the very first thing anyone will see when they come in. With this room being the Terry Tillman Conference Room, we can be sure that any decision made here will be a good one," said Lt. Col. Douglas George, 303rd IS commander.
